Ex-city treasurer named to county library's board

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Former Romulus City Treasurer James Napiorkowski has been appointed to a five year term on the Wayne County Public Library Board by County Executive Ed McNamara.

Napiorkowski's appointment was recently confirmed by the county commissioners.

"We are pleased to have Jim on our board," McNamara said. "Our library system provides a valuable service to thousands of people and its crucial we have knowledgeable people guiding its decisions."

He has been a member of the board of directors for the Library Network since 1993.

Napiorkowski is married and has two children and one granddaughter.

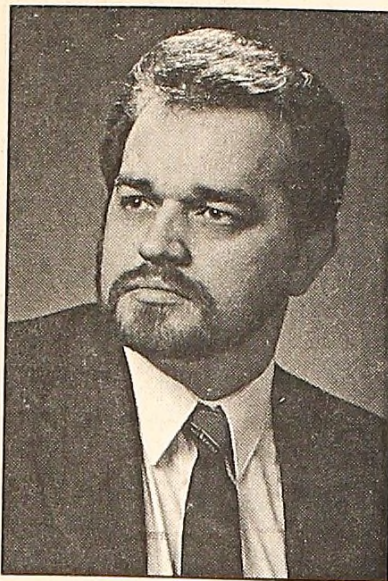

He currently is president of WoodShop Creations Inc., a furniture repair and restoration shop in Romulus.

As a former secretary/treasurer of the Romulus Building Authority, he supervised completion of the renovation of Romulus City Hall and Romulus Public Library.

Others on the library board include: Dr. Equilla Bradford of Detroit, Roger Cotting of Trenton, Michael Flanagan of Wayne, Dewayne Smith of Allen Park, Conrad Valle of Taylor and Jeffery Jahr of Belleville.

The Wayne County Public Library consists of branch libraries in the communities of Inkster, Allen Park, Melvindale, Dearborn Heights, River Rouge, Ecorse, Lincoln Park, Southgate, Trenton, Belleville, Romulus and Taylor.

These branches provide li-

brary services to nine additional Wayne County communities that do not have library facilities.

An important department of the library is the Wayne County Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, which provides talking book services to residents of Wayne County, who are unable to read conventional printed material.

Gail Ellis honored as employee of the month

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Gail Ellis, a 22-year employee of the Michigan Community Newspapers, has been named the firm's employee of the month for October.

Ellis, who now works out of the newspaper's printing plant on Van Born road in Wayne, admitted she began her work over two decades ago when her children were small.

"I use to take them with me on deliveries," Ellis said. "But today my only route fellow traveler is my dog 'Snickers'."

Ellis said she was "totally surprised" when MCN Publisher Mike Wilcox named her as this month's award winner at an office breakfast.

Wilcox praised her for her efforts in supervising the new insertion team as well as her key working habits on delivery routes in Belleville and other locations.

Asked what she enjoys most about her job, Ellis said, it is the ability to meet and converse with the weekly MCN customers on her route.

In her 22 year span, Ellis said she has delivered all MCN routes including the Sunday delivery of the Eyewitness newspaper.

Gail Ellis

In addition to delivery duties, Ellis said she also has made collections and acted as an office "go-for."

Shoplifters nabbed

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

All the cosmetics in the world can't disguise a theft.

An alien resident living in Westland learned that the hard way when she tried to shoplift six items from a makeup display at Kroger on Michigan afternoon on a recent afternoon.

A Kroger loss prevention worker watched the woman slip the items into her purse.

The woman pushed her grocery cart to the checkout line, but she only paid the cashier for the groceries. She left without attempting to pay for the cosmetics.

A loss prevention worker followed the woman outside and stopped her in the lot. After flashing a loss prevention badge, the worker escorted the subject back inside to wait for a Westland police officer to arrest her for retail fraud.

The woman posted bond.

The same afternoon, down Central City Parkway at J.C. Penny, a young Westland man suffered a similar fate. Instead of lifting cosmetics, he tried his luck with men's accessories.

A Penny loss prevention worker saw him looking at wallets with two other men. Before striking, he strolled over to the young men's department with his companions. But he returned to accessories with another man, took a black money clip out of a box, replaced the box on top of a wallet stand, and left the department.

While leaving, he dropped the clip into a pocket, then walked out of the store. Though he passed several cash registers, he made no attempt to pay.

Once outside, he was apprehended by a loss prevention worker.

Anti-porn effort set next week

A major statewide effort to raise concerns about pornography's impact on Michigan families will be marked next week under the coordination of the American Family Association of Michigan.

Ironically the monthly newsletter published by the AFA quoted heavily from a recent article written by Tom Mooradian of the Michigan Community Newspapers on the recent raid and closing of the Melody Theatre of Inkster -- which has shown adult films on a regular basis for over a decade.

During the week of Oct. 25-Nov. 1, the AFA urges local pastors to "shed the light upon the evil and give clear warning of the perils of pornography."

Led by its President Bill Johnson, the AFA annually sets aside the last week of October for a heavy anti-porn presence in Michigan.

In its front page article, Johnson declares that "America continues to play dumb, to minimize the role of pornography in America's rapid moral decline. America is living in denial."

Johnson urges local Christians to ask their pastors to speak on Holiness that week and God's desires for his people.

He also asks that local citizens write letters to Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair to support the actions taken by law enforcement authorities in Inkster that led to the arrest of 14 persons on charges related to pornography and sexual acts at the theatre.

There were reports that one of the arrested parties has allegedly committed suicide, Mooradian said.

To contact O'Hair, write to him in care of the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice, 1441 St. Antoine St., Detroit, MI. 48226 or call him at 313-224-5777.

Johnson also is seeking a Wayne County resident to chair an AFA unit within the county.

Johnson also is leading an effort to remove Howard Stern from the Michigan airwaves. Efforts by the AFA nationally have curtailed advertising on shows like Stern's across the U.S.

For more information write the AFA at P.O. Box 202, Fremont, MI. 49412-0202 or call 616-924-4050.

An alternative Halloween adventure for local youth is slated for 4 to 7 p.m. Oct. 31 at the Living Word Worship Center, 35004 Michigan Ave., Wayne.

The fun night includes: carnival games, puppet shows, pumpkin decorating contest, face painting and other activities.

There also will be free hot dogs, chips, soda and cider available.

For more information call 734-467-9766.

The deadline is approaching for the 11th annual Downriver Community Prayer Breakfast that will be held from 7 to 9:30 a.m. Nov. 19 at the Crystal Gardens, 16703 Fort St. in Southgate.

Middle Schoolers help raise $650 at Crop Walk

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Eighteen Romulus Middle Schoolers and adult leaders joined the recent Romulus/Belleville Crop Walk and raised over $650.

Betty Santo, leadership director at the school, revealed that Patrick Webb raised $145 in pledges and fellow student Ashley Stockdale collected $110 in donations.

"We are very proud of Patrick and Ashley," Santo said, "and all of the other students and adult leaders who took part in the walk."

The group joined hundreds of other walkers early in October to march from the Community United Methodist Church of Romulus to the Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville.

An announcement is expected soon on what the total amount collected by the hundreds of walkers actually was.

The Crop Walk is just one of the many group activities the Middle School Leadership Group will take part in this school year.

Anyone wishing to join this worthy program is urged to call Santo at 722-1050, ext. 244.

Two heroes that deserve our praise

When heroes are few and far between anymore, John Glenn sticks out like a sore thumb.

Glenn, 77, is returning to space 36 years after becoming the first American to orbit the Earth. A longtime senator from Ohio, Glenn will be part of the STS-95 crew aboard the space shuttle Discovery that plans to lift off on Thursday afternoon, October 29.

Glenn, and Alan Shepard, the first man to rocket into space, are the true space pioneers. The space shuttles and equipment they used in the early sixties is barbaric and minuscule compared to the incredibly large and complex Discovery. They truly had no idea whether they would return to Earth safely, back then.

An now Glenn, at the age when most of us have given up physical labor, is headed back into space and lordy, it has created a furor along Florida's Space Coast. A half million people are expected to line the streets and waterways contiguous to Kennedy Space Center to witness this grand event. That's more people than any other launch since the sixties when sightseers slept in the median of US1 to ensure a good seat for the event.

And local entrepreneurs plan to make big bucks from this latest launch. The typical every launch parking, t-shirt and refreshment vendors are going to get a challenge from the more creative. For instance an outfitter canoe and kayak trips to an island close by Cape Kennedy where for $50 participants can not only get lunch, but a great view of the launch. Ron Jon's, Cocoa Beach's world-famous surf shop is promising the biggest fireworks display the area has ever seen. And a parade of retired astronauts is being planned by another community.

Why all the excitement? Certainly not because anyone expects the shuttle to fail (although the last two rockets to be sent up from Cape Canaveral have burst) to reach its destination. Rather, the man, this great American hero, has captivated the hearts and imaginations of many, and many of us just want to witness his success the second time around.

The excitement couldn't have come at a better time. NASA has been under great pressure from Congress and others who claim the money spent on the space program is not achieving results fast enough. The Russian space station Mir and the various link-ups with NASA astronauts was a public relations nightmare and the joint Russian-U.S. space station construction project is far behind schedule. NASA needed a hero to spark interest in space again, and who better than the original space hero, John Glenn.

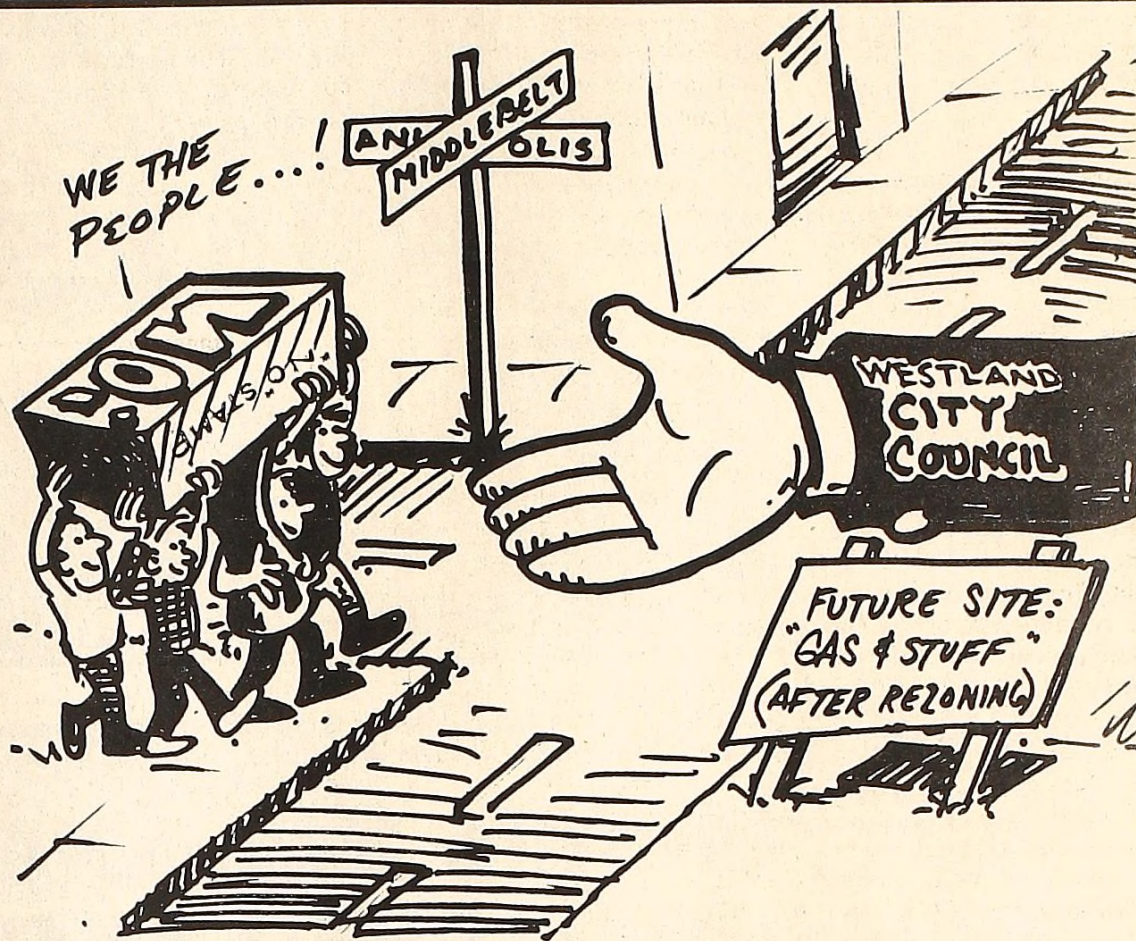

Three cheers to another hero of sorts, David Dickson. Dickson is credited with leading Van Buren police to Frederick Bates, the Romulus teen who is accused of murdering his mother.

The modest Dickson said it was "just a stroke of luck." He happened to be pulling into a Meijer parking space when he noticed the description of the Neon car he had heard earlier on the television news. After parking his car, Dickson got out, went behind the Neon, that had the accused killer in it, and confirmed the 555 license plate number that he had heard earlier. He returned to his car and called the cops on his cellular phone.

Many of us wouldn't have been so observant. Most of us would have failed to get the license plate number. Some of us would have left the scene, afraid our involvement would lead to unpleasantness. Not David Dickson. Like Glenn, he too can be called a hero.

Character Counts! trashes traditional values

Be warned: Character Counts! Week is upon us.

"Character Counts! Week is a way to build that necessary awareness, and each year thousands of schools, businesses and political leaders are asked to sponsor or participate in programs during the third week in October . . . not so much to celebrate our best selves, but to call the nation to action," says the national Character Counts! webpage.

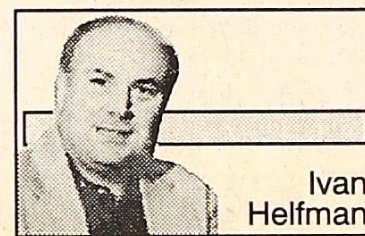

Since Canton is a Character Counts! town, residents with traditional American values should be prepared for an all-out assault from New Agers intent on destroying the 2,500-year-old ethical system at the core of western civilization.

Western ethics succeeded because it emphasized individual will guided by the practice of the four cardinal virtues, prudence, justice, temperance, and courage, and by the three religious ones, faith, hope, and charity.

These virtues, which evolved over the centuries, were debated and shaped by the greatest western minds — Aristotle, Thomas Aquinas, David Hume, and, most recently, by Alastair McIntyre.

In addition to the virtues, western ethics recognized the existence of evil, which tempts good folks with the "Seven Deadly Sins": pride, envy, anger, sloth, avarice, gluttony, and lust.

Then along came the hippies with their LSD, dirty toes, lava lamps, Donovan records, and "Do your own thing" philosophies.

While dirty toes have gone the way of "Mellow Yellow" and psychedelic drugs, hippie philosophies have proved durable, especially in the schools and "human service organizations." Consequently, the Character Counts! Coalition has adopted New Age values and virtues and plans to coat them with institutional rectitude and sell them with testimonials from local officials and celebrities this week.

"Plan your own [Character Counts!] celebration and showcase your character-education efforts by engaging civic leaders, local businesses, schools and youth organizations to participate in state- and citywide events," urges the coalition's website. Hold a parade, place ads in the media, march out the local celebrities.

Everything but explain that the western world already has a better ethical system than the New Agers do with Character Counts!

At the heart of Character Counts! are "the Six Pillars of Character": trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship. With child-like naivety, Character Counts!

doesn't acknowledge evil. Pride, envy, anger, sloth, avarice, gluttony, and lust — all the sins that lead people astray are OK. At last year's Character Counts! kickoff, members stooped to praising pride, the deadliest traditional sin, despite the specter of O.J. pride's poster child. Perhaps if O.J. had learned that "Pride goeth before a fall," he wouldn't have been so murderously arrogant.

Equally naive was the choice of Character Counts' virtues. Lacking the virtue of "prudence" — which allowed individual will and thinking to come into play, since the practice of prudence aimed at defining the other virtues and deciding when and where each was appropriate behavior — Character Counts' system is morally blind. Their virtues of trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship are subject to misuse and manipulation. For example, fairness could apply to a fair dope deal or a fair revenge murder. Responsibility could bind workers to an evil corporation. Citizenship could justify their obedience to a fascist state.

Not so with the traditional virtues, which uses prudence, temperance, and individual will as checks on destructive behavior. Without these checks, without a concept of sin, Character Counts! can only count the destruction of character as its likely outcome of its assault on western culture.

Colleges have always been diverse

To the Editor:

Recent newspaper columns have reported that Americans favor diverse college campuses. Colleges have always been diverse. Any two people represent diversity. Why the suggestion that diversity is so important? Oh, you mean that a diversity based on the color of the students is the desired diversity!

The important diversity is one achieved by assembling students with varying ideas, students with varying frames of reference.

According to one column, "Diversity on campuses has a more positive effect on the general atmosphere...that a diverse student body had a positive effect on education." Who could argue with the statement? But the writers mean that diversity of color accounts for the positive effects. This has never been proved, anywhere at any time, and never will be.

The greatest diversity is achieved when the very best student enrollees can find are matriculated. Those of lesser ability substituted for the more capable students who are told to enroll elsewhere will always dilute the diversity that is important: varying ideas and ideological diversity.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN BY PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

Friends Would Never Let Friends Do This Kind Of Service

Mr. Ross: I don't know if you got my last letter or not. If you didn't, I just wanted you to know that a guy said he could help me out. All I have to do is go to a party he is having in a couple of weeks. He told me I was cute minus my teeth. He said some guys don't mind that and I could keep all the money I make at the party. So you see, I don't need your help because with all the money I'll make, I can get my teeth fixed. Once I get my teeth fixed, then I can get a real job at a factory or restaurant. Thanks anyway and no hard feelings.

Ms. S. V. ... The Wave, Rockaway Beach, NY

Dear Ms. V.: Your letter disturbs me because I don't think you're going to make money at this party by serving drinks or passing out party hats. I'm sure any money to be made comes from removing your clothes or providing sexual favors. Gosh darn it that disturbs me.

Please write me again and I'll find a dentist in your area who will work with us. That much I promise.

Dear Percy: I was pulled over recently by the police and to my dismay, was told that I had a very outstanding warrant. I knew right away that they had the wrong guy. They wouldn't listen to me. What's worse, is they threw me in jail for a night.

The next morning I saw the judge and he told me that it was an honest mistake and that I had a very common name. He didn't even apologize to me. Well, the worst part is they impounded my car and I don't have the money to get it out. I'm a hard working, honest person, but because of bills I don't have the $250 needed. If you would please consider loaning me this money, I would gladly pay you back.

Mr. T. J. ... The Journal, Flint, MI

Dear Mr. J.: Our judicial system can be long on excuses and short on apologies. However, ours is still the best system that exists.

You are no longer a victim of circumstances because my $250 is on the way as a gift. Although this doesn't right a wrong, look for the silver lining. Having spent one unmerited night in jail probably gave you a bird's eye view of where you never want to spend any time again. Best wishes.

Dear Mr. Ross: My husband and I live on a small V.A. check. He has been real sick and we have had some pretty bad years. But, I started to go to church 6 months ago and God has blessed us. I feel foolish asking, but the Bible I have has such small words and I can't understand some of it.

I would like a big print Bible and a couple of new dresses. All my church clothes came from Goodwill and yard sales. I'm very happy to have them, but I would just love a new dress. I can get them for $30 a piece and the Bible for $25. I wouldn't ask if I could afford them. It's a simple request, but the difference the Lord has made in our lives is a tremendous one.

Mrs. J. D. ... Pennysaver, Tulsa, OK

Dear Mrs. D.: Your request is a simple one—$85 for 2 dresses and a Bible. I am humbled by your sincerity and desire to learn about the Lord and accept Him into your life.

I'm sending you $200 with the hope it will enable you to reach out to others whose lives are void of spiritual grace. For reasons unknown to either of us you have been chosen. Go forward now and cast light into the darkness of others.

the survey promoting diversity (diversity of color) insists that diversity is important to student success. Balderdash! Without the honesty of saying forthrightly that the diversity they sponsor is a diversity of color, they say boldly that the introduction of people of color into a classroom situation will speed the learning and ensure that the student learning will be enhanced! Amazing!

One column reported that "75 percent said diversity programs raise rather than lower academic standards." The increase of color diversity to the classroom situation does not, will not, and never has resulted in an increase in student performance. Why would it?

Consider: Five black students are substituted for five white students in a class of twenty white students. The liberal maintains that the infusion of color will enhance and speed the learning of the students in the classroom. Why?

Would changing a class of twenty white students to a class of ten whites and ten blacks be even more beneficial? This suggests that the substitution of five whites for five blacks in a class of twenty blacks might be deleterious. Color diversity neither promotes learning nor decreases learning because of simply changing the color of some of the faces.

What's wrong with arranging classes accomplishing a color mix? Nothing. Just don't make the ridiculous claim that any color mix will result in more learning, better learning, more rapid learning.

The liberal suggestion is that all of the students in an accounting class I teach need to know about and be sensitive to the color, race, ethnicity, cultural background and religion of others in the class. This has never been true and won't be true tomorrow.

Sincerely,
Neil Goodbred

Recent candidate seeks to increase UM's technology research revenue

To the Editor:

A couple of weeks ago, Gov. John Engler kicked off the first Governor's Innovation Forum by announcing the results of a survey showing that Michigan's businesses and universities need to find better ways to work together to create high-tech jobs in the state.

"By working together to shape our future, we are guaranteeing the creation of high-tech jobs and increasing the competitiveness of Michigan business," said the Governor's prepared remarks. "We have to focus on the importance of technology, and the role our universities and industries play in preparing Michigan for the knowledge-based economy of the 21st century."

A troubling finding from the survey: 64% of business and 42% of university respondents said non-Michigan universities provide the best research for industry. "The University of Michigan is the No. 1 research university in the country," said Job Commission spokeswoman Susan Schafer. "Unfortunately, business and academic leaders in Michigan don't tap that resource enough."

I agree. Ever since I've been on the Board or Regent at the University of Michigan, I've been bothered by the disconnect between the U of M's high standing in sponsored research (currently $495,000,000, tops among US public universities) and the relatively meager number of high-tech spin-off companies in Southeastern Michigan. The contrast between Michigan and Route 128 around Boston's MIT or California's Silicon Valley around Stanford couldn't be sharper.

The problem isn't confined to the U of M. Michigan State, Wayne State, Oakland and Western Michigan all having thriving research programs in their own right. But, once again, the number of high-tech companies spun off from their academic labs is relatively small.

For anybody who cares about the economic future of our state, this problem has high priority. Although Michigan has established a position of world leadership in industries as diverse as automobiles and office furniture, it's clear we need to look ahead to the knowledge-based economy of the 21st century.

For example, the Michigan Information Technology Task Force, a blue-ribbon commission funded largely by the Kellogg Foundation, recently called for rapid development of Michigan's comparative advantages in information technology. These are rooted in part in the labs of our universities (U of M is particularly strong in this regard) and partly in the growing adaption of computer networks throughout Michigan's business community.

But instances of serious, sustained collaboration between business and higher education in Michigan are relatively few.

One potential solution is to create an institutional structure that regularly brings together top leadership from both. Many other states, for example, have some version of a business-university roundtable. Attendance is confined to CEOs or President, people who can commit their institutions. The agenda is flexible, although usually organized around the theme of business-university collaboration.

Some hesitant steps toward starting a higher education-business roundtable were taken while Jim Duderstadt was President of the U-M, but the effort never really got off the ground. Maybe the time has come for another try.

Another more concrete approach is to look hard at the barriers to technology transfer from university labs into the private sector. Many universities, for example, have an academic culture that discourages professors from becoming entrepreneurs. Others have conflict of interest rules that hobble researchers from getting into business.

I got interested in this part of the problem back in 1996. U-M interim President Homer Neal (a world-class high-energy physicist) drew my attention to the fact that the UM bylaw on technology transfer failed to state that moving discoveries out of the lab to the private sector was a proper objective for the University. Moreover, the rules were unclear about whether professors could properly receive royalties from their inventions while still serving as members of the faculty.

So there were few incentives at the U-M, whether financial or cultural, to encourage professors to behave like their counterparts at Stanford or MIT and commercialize their research work.

I had a hand in rewriting that bylaw. Transferring discoveries from the lab to the private sector was set out as an appropriate mission for the U-M, while the disincentives in the policy governing researchers and royalties were reduced.

Shifting the incentives, especially, seems to have worked. In 1998, revenues related U-M technology jumped to $6.8 million, compared to less than $2 million in previous years. The University granted 43 licenses for companies to use U-M technology discoveries, up from 27 in 1994.

Start-up companies using U-M technology are now a gossip staple in Ann Arbor bars, while the University of Michigan has made it clear that venture capitalists and entrepreneurs are important and welcome partners.

It likely will take a while, but it's vital to Michigan's economic future to encourage our universities to play their role as an enormous asset in driving the knowledge-based economy of the next century. It's one of the factors that voters should consider when making their choices among candidates for statewide education boards on the November 3 ballot.

Sincerely,
Phil Power

Halloween events planned for schools

By DON RICHTER
MCN Special Writer

With Halloween right around the corner, area schools are busily planning their events, getting ready for this much anticipated holiday.

Belleville High School will be presenting another "must see" Halloween Band Concert on Wednesday, October 28 at 5:30 p.m., 7:15 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. in the BHS auditorium. This is a traditionally "scary" event and all are welcome. For tickets, call the high school at (734) 697-9133.

All district schools are planning some sort of Halloween celebration for the students, however, officials stress that it is important for parents to follow individual school rules to help the events go smoothly. School administrators request that costumes be "school appropriate."

Here is a list of school requests to help your children celebrate: Belleville High School and South Middle School: Students are permitted to wear costumes and makeup to school. There will be contests for the best costumes. Edgemont, Haggerty and Savage Elementaries: Students will celebrate Halloween in the afternoon. Children should bring costumes to school and will be permitted to put them on at the appropriate time. Elwell Elementary: On Friday, October 23, from 5:30-8:30 p.m., students and families are invited to dress-up and come to the fall carnival. North Middle School and Tyler Elementary: Students should not wear or bring costumes. Cider and doughnuts will be served during the afternoon. Tyler students are asked to wear black and orange to school.

Pancake supper announced

By DON RICHTER
MCN Special Writer

On Thursday, October 29, South Middle School will be having a Halloween Pancake Supper and Silent Auction. All are welcome.

The King Brothers will be serving pancakes, sausage, applesauce, milk and coffee from 5:00 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. Tickets are $4.00 for adults and $3.00 for students and seniors. Tickets will be available at the door.

Many specialty items such as paintings, a bike, a fresh cut Christmas tree, and many others will be auctioned off.

Over at Edgemont Elementary, the students will be learning about the weather. On Tuesday, October 27, at 1:45 p.m., WDIV Meteorologist Tom Sorrells will be stopping by to visit with the kids. He will do a special presentation about the weather to the fourth and fifth graders.

On Wednesday, October 21, from 4:15 p.m. until 5:45 p.m., there will be a School Improvement Team Meeting at the Administration Building Board Room. The meeting is open to the public.

Belleville woman on Dean's list

The Ethel M. Habb School of Business and Management of Concordia College, Ann Arbor, Michigan is pleased to announce that Kimberly Henry, a resident of Belleville, has been named to the Dean's list for achieving a grade point average of 3.5 for a recently completed semester. Kimberly is enrolled in the Accelerated Degree Program.

Concordia College, Ann Arbor, is a four-year liberal arts college of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod's Concordia University System of ten colleges and universities. Founded in 1963, Concordia Ann Arbor offers programs of study in teacher education, general liberal arts, pre-seminary studies, business and specially designed degree-completion opportunities for working adults.

15 minutes of fame, heh, heh, heh, heh

It has been said each one of us is destined to have 15 minutes of fame in our lifetime.

Well I guess that was before computers...and before multiple job changes in the media. Some say athletes no longer stay loyal to their fans today.

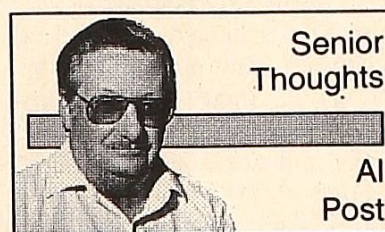

Media cycles change even more rapidly.

Sitting next to Michigan Community Newspapers legend Tom Mooradian is even more humbling.

Tom is much older than I. At least a decade older some say.

But Tom thinks the Garden of Eden was first located in Inkster. I was taught never to argue with my elders. But I know the garden really is located in Paterson, N.J.

Tom also thinks that Moses walked through a separation of the waters in the Rouge River. He doesn't believe me when I say, "No Tom, it was pollution not Moses that halted the flow of that beautiful river."

But it isn't inner office disagreements that extend our fame. It is as I said before computers - and it seems men (and women) - change technology faster than they change mailing lists.

Do you know we still get mail sent to the Associated Newspapers?

Do you know some people who left this office long before I even thought of coming to Michigan still get mail here.

Does anyone know where Barbara Wilson or Dennis Fassett live now?

Some say Fassett was last seen near a polling booth in Belleville. I'm seeking confirmation...call me if you hear the rumor is true.

If you think missing employees are exempt...try reading our mail log. Our former managing editor still gets mail addressed to Joan Dryer and John Dyer.

Our current managing editor gets mail marked Ivan Halfman.

If that wasn't bad enough this writer even gets mail sent to Al Pest. Do you think they know me better than you do?

I hate to think what that name plate will change to 10 years after I'm gone.

Oh well 15 minutes of fame is worth it, don't you think?

Heh, heh, heh. Tom and I know we don't have to worry about a thing. With the advance of the year 2000 our names and the memories of those names will be deleted from eternity at that time.

Top older Michigan worker sought

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A statewide hunt has begun for the 1999 Outstanding Older Worker in Michigan. The winner will be announced in January.

The nominees must be offered by a supervisor or co-worker and must be 65 years or older, a Michigan resident and work 20 or more hours a week in an unsubsidized job for pay.

The hunt is being pressed by the Michigan Green Thumb office in Mount Pleasant - the country's oldest and largest non-profit provider of employment and training for older Americans.

To nominate an employee a supervisor or co-worker must provide a brief narrative (about 250 words) covering the worker's overall contribution to the business, a description of new/additional skills the nominee has learned since starting the job, any roadblocks the nominee has overcome on the job and a description of other community involvements.

Nominations must be received by the Green Thumb office, P.O. Box 465, Mount Pleasant, MI 48804 by 5 p.m. Dec. 18.

The nominations will be evaluated by a statewide blue-ribbon panel composed of business and civic leaders across Michigan.

For more information call 517-722-5308.

In addition to recognition within the state of Michigan, the winner will also be honored at a dinner in Washington, D.C. in March and have a tour of the White House, etc.

Earlier this year the state's outstanding older worker was Mary C. Feindt, 82, of Charlevoix, who is the president of Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co.

Other state winners were a research physician, a welder, a labor rights attorney, a heavy equipment operator, a home health aide and the owner of a children's clothing store.

McLaughlin-Sullivan battle to win commissioner's office

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A veteran Canton Township trustee and a new political face from Wayne are battling it out to succeed fiery 11th District Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson (R-Canton).

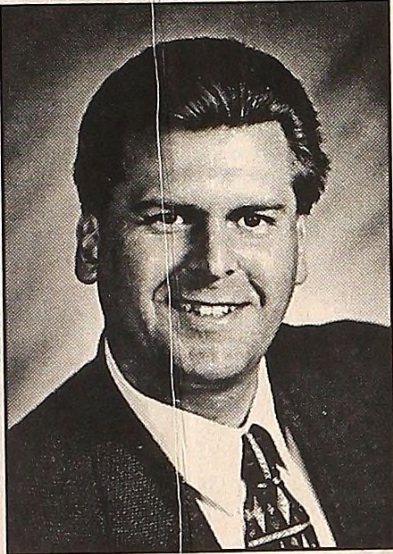

Ironically to date the rhetoric in this race has been some what limited and reserved.

The candidates are:
Melissa McLaughlin, a Republican, who has served as a township trustee since 1992 and has been a member of the township Planning Commission for seven years, and John Joseph Sullivan, a Democrat, who has lived in Wayne since 1995, opened a law practice in the city and has joined several community efforts -- including the current Playscape and Meals on Wheels programs.

airport noise issues under control and improve government services.”

Sullivan said it was his unhappiness with current government services that drew him into the public arena to start with.

He knows it is an uphill battle for him in the Nov. 3 election since his party's candidates may pay a price for the media image of President Clinton and Democratic Governor's candidate Geoffrey Fieger.

My style is to work in co-operation with county leadership to get our roads fixed, airport noise issues under control and improve government services.
- John Sullivan

McLaughlin prides herself on her political experience but admits she is not six foot five inches tall (like Patterson) and will not be using her fist to pound on the table or lectern to enforce her statements.

But McLaughlin feels that she can show the same kind of aggressive attitudes needed to get results for district residents.

In addition to her personal political experience, McLaughlin says she knows many of the political professionals now on the scene. That knowledge is very helpful in seeking to get more funds for local road repairs and to get Sen. Loren Bennett's Senate Bill 832 approved to help local communities gain additional funds for airport noise mitigation efforts.

She also expressed deep concern that mobile home owners are being short-changed in the noise abatement efforts.

She feels the McNamara administration tends to ignore Western Wayne County -- and will work hard to make sure that governmental style comes to and end soon.

McLaughlin feels the tremendous growth in home and industrial developments in Western Wayne County warrant a stronger partnership with Detroit, Livonia and other areas of the county.

Battle of the titans

Undefeated Glenn, Farmington Harrison duel for championship

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Westland John Glenn cleared its final obstacle Friday night in its anticipated showdown with Farmington Hills Harrison.

The two titans of the Western Lakes Conference will meet at 1 p.m. on Saturday to decide the conference championship.

Both teams are undefeated and will carry unblemished 7-0 records into the clash.

Harrison humiliated Livonia Churchill, 54-7, while Glenn demolished North Farmington before a homecoming crowd, 55-7, for their seventh victories in their latest triumphs.

The Westlanders exploded for an apparent record 35 points in the first quarter to finish off their visitors early as coach Chuck Gordon turned to his bench and allowed everyone to play.

Veteran school statisticians could not recall when a Glenn team had scored 35 or more points in a single quarter.

North could not stop or slow down Glenn senior running back Reggie Spearmon who piled up 174 yards and scored four of the Rockets' touchdowns on runs of 41, 46, 17 and 55.

Glenn also got a touchdown

The neutral zone

How does Westland John Glenn match up against Farmington Hills Harrison? According to one veteran prognosticator, "Glenn probably has the best running back in the league in Reggie Spearmon and also an excellent receiver in Eric Jones, but Harrison's Ricky Bryant is a Division I player and I can't see anyone stopping him or Harrison this year. They will beat Glenn by 10 and also win the state championship." Time will tell.

from its Nick Hudson-to-Eric Jones connection as the Rocket quarterback teamed up with his favorite receiver for a 23-yard touchdown pass. Senior John Petit also scored on a 37-yard jaunt, while senior fullback J. T. Pillsbury managed to cap a mid-field drive with a two-yard TD run. It was his first-ever varsity TD.

Glenn kicker Jeremy Catarino booted the first three point-after, then gave way to Nick Paddock, who successfully kicked four of five PATs. Paddock also made it across the North goal line on an off-tackle, 47-yard run, however, the score was nullified because of a holding infraction.

Plymouth-Salem also wrapped up the Lakes Division phase of the season with a lopsided 41-0 victory over Farmington. The victory will put coach Tom Moshimer and the Rocks up against Walled Lake Western in the conference playoff series.

The two teams will meet 7:30 p.m. on Friday at Western.

Salem didn't work up any sweat in winning its third divisional start in five outings. (The Rocks are 4-3 on the year). On their first possession after the opening kickoff, quarterback Matt Fair rolled his Rocks on a 60-yard drive that culminated with Fair's TD 44-yard pass to Jason Furr.

Salem made it 8-0 after a bobbled snap. Ryan Cook scooped up the ball and raced it back to the end zone for the two-point conversion.

On their very next drive.

Romulus clobbers Carlson, wins first-ever grid title

Romulus running back Freddie Russell (No. 1, above) runs clear of the Carlson defense as he sweeps wide on this 78-yard TD jaunt, one of three he scored in a 40-0 victory over the defending champs. Friday night, before a Homecoming crowd, coach Mark Woodson and the Romulus Eagles proved they are in a class of their own.

Romulus clobbered defending champ, Gibraltar Carlson, 40-0, to capture the Mega Conference Gold Division championship. At a high school that has won a slew of basketball titles and produced such NBA stars as Johnny Long, Terry Mills, and Grant Long, the football title is the first-ever in the last three decades.

"We're proud of these kids," said Woodson, "but we have to make it clear that they have only won a share of the title and that there is still, hopefully, a long way to go."

"Our goal is only half accomplished at this point," Woodson added.

To win the title outright, Romulus must beat an up-and-coming Willow Run team Friday night. The Flyers have strung together two consecutive victories and are 2-5 on the year.

Woodson and the Eagles round out the Gold Division phase of the season at Willow Run, and a week from Friday must tangle with natural rivals, Belleville.

"We still have two tough games in our regular season and I hope you can convey that to everyone - it isn't over yet," Woodson stressed.

But it was over early for Carlson Friday night as the Eagles scored twice in the first quarter and built up a 28-0 lead at half before breezing to their

Robichaud rakes arch-rival Inkster Bulldogs in a 'must-win' game with Carlson

By TOM MOORADIAN

Although there is a possibility - slim at best - Dearborn Heights Robichaud may still get a slice of the Mega Conference Gold Division football title.

But coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs will have to beat visiting Gibraltar Carlson on Friday, while undefeated and state-ranked Romulus loses to Willow Run.

Willow Run has recovered from its doldrums and the Flyers have put together back-to-back victories. Their speed and size may cause coach Mark Woodson some headaches Friday night.

Inkster scored what proved to be its final touchdown midway in the last quarter, and this one was a Clark-to-Jamal Pool pass-play, which covered 30-yards.

In the meantime, Robichaud raked Inkster 36-18, and has only one divisional loss - a setback handed them by Romulus - and is seated a notched below Romulus in the standings.

Carlson is coming to town after being humiliated by running back Freddie Russell who led his Eagles to a 40-0 shutout over the defending champs.

Carlson will be looking for redemption.

Inkster managed to stay with their natural (Robichaud draws students from the city of Inkster) rivals for a half. The Vikings scored two second quarter touchdowns and trailed by eight before the Bulldogs exploded for three unanswered TDs to stash the game away.

The Vikings got on the scoreboard early in the second quarter after quarterback Alfonso Clark found a weak spot in the Robichaud secondary and fired a pass to receiver Michael Gray, who turned the reception into a 75-yard pass-run scoring play.

Though the Vikings failed to cash in on the two point conversion, they did manage to come back with a second touchdown later in that period. This time it was wingback Dennis Williams who went across the crease.

Williams went in from 17-yards out for his first TD, which was set up on a 40-yard punt return by Gray.

Inkster scored what proved to be its final touchdown midway in the last quarter, and this one was a Clark-to-Jamal Pool pass-play, which covered 30-yards.

Clark looked good as he connected on two TD passes and completed eight of 13 for 180-yards. He had one pass picked off. Williams and Darius Hawkins led the Viking rushers, while outside linebacker William Morris, who had 10 solo tackles, and middle linebacker, Anthony Wimberly, who had two sacks, spearheaded the Viking defense.

Raymond Jenkins and Adrian Matthews also stood out on defense.

Inkster coach Mark Townsend said that he was very impressed by the Robichaud coaching staff and its talent.

Wayne, Belleville may yet decide who is champ

Upset leaves 3 tied for 1st

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

With Dearborn Fordson's stunning and controversial upset over previously undefeated Dearborn at Dearborn Friday night, the fate of the Mega Conference Red Division football title unexpectedly may fall in the hands of Wayne Memorial and Belleville.

In that controversial title-game, Dearborn's last-second TD was nullified because of a holding infraction, and that penalty gave the Tractors a 21-14 victory over the Pioneers and moved them into a three-way tie with Dearborn and Monroe for first place.

Monroe managed to stop Belleville in the last seconds, and a Tiger final drive fell nine-yards short.

Since Dearborn beat Monroe earlier in the season, the two, and Fordson each have one loss.

Coach Bob LaPointe and the injury-plagued Tigers get Fordson at home on Friday. If Belleville can stop the one-dimensional Tractors, and if Wayne can come back from its Wyandotte loss to beat Monroe, Dearborn may yet win the title outright.

If the trio - Dearborn, Fordson and Monroe - should surface winners, the Mega Conference Red Division will have tri-champs for 1998.

"Anything can happen," said Wayne Coach Floyd Carter. "If Belleville gets all of those injured kids back, believe me, they can play with anyone. We're at Monroe, and they can be really tough down there."

Monroe has to beat Wayne to preserve its share of the title.

Reflecting on the loss at Wyandotte, Carter said that he was disappointed that his team didn't win, "because there were so many opportunities to do so."

"We scored the first two touchdowns and we were driving for a third when we fumbled," Carter added. "If we had scored that one, we would have been up by 21. But it didn't happen."

Two turnovers and a couple of big Wyandotte pass plays helped in Wayne's demise.

The 34-21 setback was the second straight for Wayne, which will head into the Monroe game with a 4-3 overall record.

Initially, it appeared as if Wayne was going to blow Wyandotte right into the Detroit River.

Four minutes into the first quarter, Wayne running back Cameron Mingo took a handoff from quarterback Terry Turner, and broke loose for a spectacular 80-yard touchdown jaunt that stunned the Wyandotte defense and their fans.

Though Willie Perryman missed the extra point, Wayne had a 6-0 lead.

The Zebras came back after an exchange of punts to add eight more points to their lead. This one came at the climax of a Turner engineered 12-play, 74-yard drive that ended with the Wayne QB going into the end zone from the one on an

Back-to-back conference titles for Wayne Memorial. Not bad, folks.

Wayne compiled 11 points at the annual Mega Conference, Gold Division tennis tournament to retain the title the Zebras won a year ago.

Is there a tripeat in coach Linda Flema's future.

The Wayne coach isn't predicting, just enjoying, the championship season. "These kids have played hard all year, and we are so proud of them," Flema stressed. "This is the second year that we have won the league title, and I feel they deserve some recognition."

Wayne surfaced from the conference championships staged at Dearborn Heights Robichaud with conference champs in the No. 4 singles,

With a near-perfect dual meet record and sweeping to a victory at the conference championships, Wayne Memorial's tennis team (above) managed to retain the Mega Conference Gold Division title for the second consecutive year. Coach Linda Flema isn't talking "threepeat", but she feels that this year's team "deserves some recognition." "They have played hard all year, and we are so proud of their accomplishments. This was just the best year yet for them." Wait until next year, coach.

along with the No. 1 doubles, No. 2 doubles, and No. 3 doubles.

The Zebras were runners-up in the No. 3 singles, No. 4 doubles and No. 3 singles, while finished third in the No. 1 singles.

"Each member of this team placed and therefore scored," the Wayne coach added.

Wayne garnered a 5-1 conference and a 6-1 overall record. The champs also produced an undefeated player in Sara Nordeen, their No. 3 singles player, along with their No. 1 doubles - Dennise Daniels and Angela Spear.

Gold conference medals were awarded to Jenny Clark (No. 4 singles); Denise Daniels and Angela Spear (No. 1 doubles) and Nicole Suchan and Melissa Jones (No. 2 doubles).

Toni Watson teamed with Alma Ibanez to claim the league's title in the No. 3 doubles competition.

Silvers went to Andrea Bean (No. 3 singles), Missy Maylone and Miranda Meyers (No. 4 doubles), while Sara Nordeen (No. 3 singles) and Jenny Sheppard (No. 1 singles) had to settle for bronze medals.

Salem came back and scored with Jason Lukasik 71-yard, off-tackle slant.

Then, a Fair to Andy Kocoloski 22-yard pass accounted for the next Rock TD. The kick for the extra point sailed wide of the upright. Kocoloski then set up the next score when he picked off a North Farmington pass and returned it to the 46.

Two plays later, Fair and Cook combined on a 30-yard TD pass.

Salem wasn't finished with the once-mighty Farmington yet.

In the third quarter, Kocoloski went into the Farmington end zone from five-yards out which ended a 12-play, 53-yard drive. Furr got the extra point.

The final Salem touchdown of the divisional season went to Gabe Goble, who scored on a quarterback option from three yards out. Fair turned in with his best individual performance of the year as he connected on 10 of 14 passes - no interceptions - for 214 yards and three TDs. Andy had 172 all-purpose yards.

Moshimer said that the defense played an outstanding game and will need to repeat in order to stop an excellent Walled Lake team.

Friday and I really respect their coaching staff over there," Townsend added.

Inkster is home on Friday, hosting River Rouge for homecoming.

Townsend said that he had not had an opportunity to study Rouge this year, but "I know that they are big, physical and a hard-running team that has a lot of speed in their lineup."

seventh straight victory.

Senior Romulus running back Freddie Russell remains unstoppable as he rushed for 256-yards and three touchdowns on runs of 78, 5 and option.

Plave also accounted for four extra points.

Turner also made good on the two-point conversion, putting Wayne in control 14-0.

But not for long.

Wyandotte got a big break when the Zebras fumbled on the 41-yard line and Nick Malonowski recovered for the Bruins. In the ensuing drive, Bruins' QB Jeff Powell hit receiver Jeremy Fleeger on a 14-yard pass that provided the key for Jeff Powell's eight-yard strike to David Blok in the end zone for the host's first touchdown.

When Danny Fitzsimmons put the ball through the uprights, the Bruins were back in the ball game and trailed 14-7.

Wyandotte tied it with its opening drive of the third quarter.

And, what looked like a "sure interception" helped the Bruins scored their second TD. A pass deflection that keyed a 69-yard drive put the Bruins in scoring position. That deflection went from Powell through the hands of the Wayne's secondary to Fitzsimmons, a completion of that covered 42 yards.

At the Wayne nine, Powell scored on an option.

With Fitzsimmons's second extra point, the game was knotted at 14.

Turner brought Wayne back. Using Mingo and Perryman indiscriminately, the Wayne quarterback marched his team 67 yards after the kickoff and scored on a 15-yard run.

In that series, Turner came up with a 19-yard pass to Perryman on a third-down situation that kept the drive going.

With Jeremy Overton's extra point, Wayne was back in front, 21-14.

But the defense, without the services of defensive halfback Kwame Hampton, who is nursing a leg injury, couldn't stop the Bruins.

With 1:41 left in the third frame, Pearce grabbed a Powell pass and turned it into a 51-yard scoring play and with Fitzsimmons's third successful point after the score was tied again at 21.

Powell apparently had found the weakness he needed. He exploited the Wayne secondary and came back in early in the fourth quarter and fired an 18-yard TD pass to Blok, which polished off a seven-play, 67-yard drive. Powell made a fourth-down and nine situation pay off as he flipped one to Scott Pearce who caught it for a nine-yard gain and the first down.

Now up 28-21, Wyandotte sealed the victory with an insurance TD midway in the fourth quarter as Dustin Powers plowed through the Wayne line from five yards out and scored, then Fitzsimmons made good on the PAT.

That last Bruins' TD was set up by a Wayne fumble at the Zebras' 37. The turnover went to Willie Wolske.

Although injured in the previous game, Mingo came back strong despite the hurt. He rushed for 198 yards on 24 carries, his best individual performance of the season.

Wayne also wasted an exceptional individual performance by Turner, who completed eight of 17 passes for 115 yards. Jawuante Dawson caught three of Turner's passes for 44 yards, while Perryman had two receptions for 38 and Mingo bagged two for 27 yards.

Anthony McCarthy looked good in his two punt return attempts. He piled up 42 yards - the longest a 22-yarder and Mingo chipped in with 41 yards on two tries.

Defensively, Scott Sheedy led the charge as he collected three initial sacks and four assists. Teammate Craig Curry had five sacks and two assists while the tireless Turner also had four initial hits and three assists.

New Eastern Michigan Library is open.

EMU dedicates $4 million Bruck T. Halle Library

Eastern Michigan University will dedicate the $41 million Bruce T. Halle Library October 9.

The library is one of the country's most modern facilities for library services. The new 270,000 square-foot building offers 300,000 volumes in an open-shelf system, a sophisticated storage and retrieval system for 800,000 books, 520 computer workstations, 1,500 network connections and 2,250 study spaces. Other features include a 100-seat auditorium, a distance learning classroom three interactive computer/video instruction rooms, a new Learning Center and the Paradox Cafe, where students can take a study break and get sandwiches, soup and trendy coffees and drinks.

The library is named for one of Eastern Michigan University's most distinguished graduates, Bruce T. Halle, chairman and chief executive officer of Discount Tire Co. Inc. of Scottsdale, Ariz.

The program began with a trumpet fanfare and welcome remarks by Eastern Michigan University officials and visiting dignitaries:

-- Juanita Reid, EMU vice president for university relations,

Gayle P. Thomas, vice chair of the EMU Board of Regents,

-- Eastern Michigan University President William E. Shelton,

-- Michigan State Senator John J. H. Schwarz,

Adrianne E. Marsh, EMU student body president,

-- Ronald W. Collins, EMU provost and vice president for academic affairs,

-- Morell D. Boone, dean of learning resources and technologies at EMU, -- Bruce T. Halle, chairman and CEO of Discount Tire Co. Inc. and a 1956 graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

During the ceremony there was an unveiling of Halle's portrait, the presentation of the key to the library from John Fleming, vice president of Ellis-Don Michigan Inc., and a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Musical entertainment was provided by the Eastern Michigan University jazz combo. Jeffery Pluta, hearing impaired signer, signed during the ceremony and at tours of the library at the conclusion of the dedication event.

Construction of the Bruce T. Halle Library began Nov. 28, 1995, and was completed in May 1998 at a cost of $41 million. The State of Michigan funded the cost of the building. Architects were Giffels, Hoyem and Basso of Troy, working with library consultants Shepley, Bulfinch, Richardson and Abbott of Boston, Mass. Ellis-Don Michigan Inc. of Troy was the contractor.

The new library is 106,000 square feet larger than the previous University Library, which was constructed in 1967. University Library is currently being renovated to become the John W. Porter College of Education, scheduled to open in 1999.

A special feature of the Halle Library is a Schulerich Americana 319 Carillon, located in the top of the tower at the library's front entrance. It was a gift of E. Gregg Liechty, Class of 1932, a noted philanthropist, retired business executive and active alumnus. The carillon is a digitized Auto Bell instrument that contains 61 notes and a six, cast-bell repertoire. Sound "cards" offer popular or seasonal tunes; EMU's fight song and alma mater; and the ability for EMU musicians to record and broadcast original compositions.

More information on the library dedication and tours are available by calling Eastern Michigan's Office of Public Information at (734) 487-4400.
